Masking, temporal integration, and sensorineural hearing loss. David Y. Chung. December, 514-520.

Diagnostic Audiometry

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Experiments re: Clinical application of reflex modulation audiometry. Levi A. Reiter. March, 92-98.

Habilitation, Rehabilitation, Education

Articulatory patterns of an adventitiously deaf speaker: Implications for the role of auditory information in speech production. Gerald Zimmermann & Patricia Rettaliata. June, 169-178.
Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Comprehension and production of basic semantic concepts by older hearing-impaired children. Barbara A. Brenza, Patricia B. Kricos, & Elaine Z. Lasky. September, 414-419.
The comprehension of metaphorical uses of English by deaf children. Asghar Iran-Nejad, Andrew Ortony, & Robert K. Rittenhouse. December, 551-556.
Correlates of syntactic abilities in hearing-impaired students. B. R. Clarke & W. Todd Rogers. March, 48-54.
Immediate and delayed story recall by hearing and deaf children. Rosslyn Gaines, Jean M. Mandler, & Peter Bryant. September, 463-469.
Some effects of training on speech recognition by hearing-impaired adults. Brian E. Walden, Sue A. Erdman, Allen A. Montgomery, Daniel M. Schwartz, & Robert A. Prosek. June, 207-216.

Hearing Aids, Auditory Prosthesis

Effect of noise and reverberation on binaural and monaural word identification by subjects with various audiograms. Anna K. Nabelek & David Mason. September, 375-383.
Pairwise listener preferences in hearing aid evaluation. Jerry L. Punch & Cheryl A. Parker. September, 366-374.
Tutorial. On the potential deterioration in hearing due to hearing aid usage. Larry E. Humes & Fred H. Bess. March, 3-15.

Hearing Loss and Deafness

Articulatory patterns of an adventitiously deaf speaker: Implications for the role of auditory information in speech production. Gerald Zimmermann & Patricia Rettaliata. June, 169-178.
Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
A comparison of the effects of hearing impairment and acoustic filtering on consonant recognition. Brian E. Walden, Daniel M. Schwartz, Allen A. Montgomery, & Robert A. Prosek. March, 32-43.
Comprehension and production of basic semantic concepts by older hearing-impaired children. Barbara A. Brenza, Patricia B. Kricos, & Elaine Z. Lasky. September, 414-419.
Effect of noise and reverberation on binaural and monaural word identification by subjects with various audiograms. Anna K. Nabelek & David Mason. September, 375-383.
Frequency-discrimination ability of hearing-impaired listeners. P. M. Zurek & C. Formby. March, 108-112.
Frequency discrimination ability of hearing-impaired listeners. A reassessment. Ed Dobbins & Maureen Hannley. December, 624.
Immediate and delayed story recall by hearing and deaf children. Rosslyn Gaines, Jean M. Mandler, & Peter Bryant. September, 463-469.
Masking of noise bursts by an adjacent vowel for hearing-impaired listeners. Sally Revoile, J. M. Pickett, & Mary Pat Wilson. December, 576-579.
Masking, temporal integration, and sensorineural hearing loss. David Y. Chung. December, 514-520.
Reply to Dobbins and Hannley. Patrick M. Zurek, & C. Formby. December, 624-625.
The temporal course of the masking of tinnitus as a basis for inferring its origin. M. J. Penner, Steven Brauth, & Linda Hood. June, 257-261.
Tone-on-tone masking in subjects with normal hearing and with sensorineural hearing loss. David Y. Chung. December, 506-513.

Noise and Hearing (Conservation)

Infants' detection of speech in noise. Sandra E. Trehub, Dale Bull, & Bruce A. Schneider. June, 202-206.
Tutorial. On the potential deterioration in hearing due to hearing aid usage. Larry E. Humes & Fred H. Bess. March, 3-15.

Psychoacoustics

Children's performance on a binaural fusion task. Bruce L. Plakke, Daniel J. Orchik, & Daniel S. Beasley. December, 520-525.
Construct validity of direct magnitude estimation and interval scaling of speech intelligibility: Evidence from a study of the hearing impaired. Nicholas Schiavetti, Dale Evan Metz, & Ronald W. Sitler. September, 441-445.
Detection of tones in band-reject noise. Robert H. Margolis, Judy R. Dubno, & Steven M. J. Hunt. September, 336-344.
Frequency-discrimination ability of hearing-impaired listeners. P. M. Zurek & C. Formby. March, 108-112.

Frequency discrimination ability of hearing-impaired listeners: A reassessment. Ed Dobbins & Maureen Hannley. December, 624.
Infants' detection of speech in noise. Sandra E. Trehub, Dale Bull, & Bruce A. Schneider. June, 202-206.
Loudness balance calibration of bone conduction vibrators. S. Joseph Barry & Richard B. Vaughan. September, 454-459.
Masking of noise bursts by an adjacent vowel for hearing-impaired listeners. Sally Revoile, J. M. Pickett, & Mary Pat Wilson. December, 576-579.
Masking, temporal integration, and sensorineural hearing loss. David Y. Chung. December, 514-520.
Psychophysical scaling of distorted speech. S. Joseph Barry & Gerald Kidd, Jr. March, 44-47.
A reexamination of some nonverbal perceptual abilities of language-impaired and normal children as a function of age and sensory modality. Paula Tallal, Rachel Stark, Clayton Kallman, & David Mellits. September, 351-357.
Reply to Dobbins and Hannley. Patrick M. Zurek & C. Formby. December, 624-625.
Stimulus dominance in dichotic listening. Charles Speaks, Nancy Niccum, Edward Carney, & Cynthia Johnson. September, 430-437.
Tone-on-tone masking in subjects with normal hearing and with sensorineural hearing loss. David Y. Chung. December, 506-513.

SPEECH AUDIOMETRY

Children's performance on a binaural fusion task. Bruce L. Plakke, Daniel J. Orchik, & Daniel S. Beasley. December, 520-525.
A comparison of the effects of hearing impairment and acoustic filtering on consonant recognition. Brian E. Walden, Daniel M. Schwartz, Allen A. Montgomery, & Robert A. Prosek. March, 32-43.
Effect of noise and reverberation on binaural and monaural word identification by subjects with various audiograms. Anna K. Nabelek & David Mason. September, 375-383.

Language

APHASIA, AGNOSIA, APRAXIA

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Effects of pictures and picturability on sentence verification by aphasic and nonaphasic subjects. Linda Elmore-Nicholas & R. H. Brookshire. June, 292-298.
Effects of stimulus material on the dichotic listening performance of aphasic patients. Nancy Niccum, Alan B. Rubens, & Charles Speaks. December, 526-534.
A further analysis for developmental apraxia of speech in children with defective articulation. Ruth Williams, Roger J. Ingham, & Joan Rosenthal. December, 496-505.
A reexamination of some nonverbal perceptual abilities of language-impaired and normal children as a function of age and sensory modality. Paula Tallal, Rachel Stark, Clayton Kallman, & David Mellits. September, 351-357.
Syntactic versus semantic performances of agrammatic Broca's aphasics on tests of constituent-element-ordering. Alan J. Gallaher. June, 217-223.
Three studies of deficits in pantomimic expression and pantomimic recognition in aphasia. Robert J. Duffy & Joseph R. Duffy. March, 70-84.
Veterans Administration cooperative study on aphasia: A comparison of individual and group treatment. Robert T. Wertz, Michael J. Collins, David Weiss, John F. Kurtzke, Thomas Friden, Robert H. Brookshire, James Pierce, Pat Holtzapple, D. J. Hubbard, Bruce E. Porch, Joyce A. West, Larry Davis, Violet Matovitch, Gerald K. Morley, & Ernesto Resurreccion. December, 580-594.
Word association of time-altered auditory and visual stimuli in aphasia. Robert Goldfarb & Harvey Halpern. June, 233-246.
Word-retrieval difficulty and disfluent speech in adult anomic speakers. Catherine S. Brown & Walter L. Cullinan. September, 358-365.

ASSESSMENT

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Correlates of syntactic abilities in hearing-impaired students. B. R. Clarke & W. Todd Rogers. March, 48-54.
Nonlinguistic symbolic and conceptual abilities of language-impaired and normally developing children. Alan G. Kamhi. September, 446-453.

LANGUAGE DISABILITIES IN CHILDREN

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Communication systems for the nonvocal based on frequent phoneme sequences. Cheryl Goodenough-Trepagnier & Penny Prather. September, 322-330.
The comprehension of metaphorical uses of English by deaf children. Asghar Iran-Nejad, Andrew Ortony, & Robert K. Rittenhouse. December, 551-556.
Immediate and delayed story recall by hearing and deaf children. Rosslyn Gaines, Jean M. Mandler, & Peter Bryant. September, 463-469.
Nonlinguistic symbolic and conceptual abilities of language-impaired and normally developing children. Alan G. Kamhi. September, 446-453.
A reexamination of some nonverbal perceptual abilities of language-impaired and normal children as a function of age and sensory modality. Paula Tallal, Rachel Stark, Clayton Kallman, & David Mellits. September, 351-357.
Response to Courtright and Courtright. Phil Connell, Dianne Gardner-Gletty, Jill Dejewski, & Lynn Parks-Reinick. March, 146-148.
Some comments on validity, tautology and methodology: A reply to Connell et al. John A. Courtright & Illene C. Courtright. March, 148-150.

LEARNING DISABILITIES

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Nonlinguistic symbolic and conceptual abilities of language-impaired and normally developing children. Alan G. Kamhi. September, 446-453.
A reexamination of some nonverbal perceptual abilities of language-impaired and normal children as a function of age and sensory modality. Paula Tallal, Rachel Stark, Clayton Kallman, & David Mellits. September, 351-357.

MENTAL RETARDATION

A comparison of sign and verbal language training with nonverbal retarded children. James V. Kahn. March, 113-119.
Spontaneous imitations of Down's syndrome children: A lexical analysis. Truman E. Coggins & Judith A. Morrison. June, 303-308.

NORMAL LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

Early perceptual strategies for the replication of consonants from polysyllabic lexical models. Harriet B. Klein. December, 535-551.
Nonlinguistic symbolic and conceptual abilities of language-impaired and normally developing children. Alan G. Kamhi. September, 446-453.
Parents' and peers' communication to toddlers. Louise Cherry Wilkinson, Elfrieda Hiebert, & Karen Rembold. September, 383-388.
Prepositional marking of source-goal structure and children's comprehension of English passives. David N. Shorr & Philip S. Dale. June, 179-184.
Productive strategies for the pronunciation of early polysyllabic lexical items. Harriet B. Klein. September, 389-405.
A reexamination of some nonverbal perceptual abilities of language-impaired and normal children as a function of age and sensory modality. Paula Tallal, Rachel Stark, Clayton Kallman, & David Mellits. September, 351-357.
Research Note. The relation between age and mean length of utterance in morphemes. Jon F. Miller & Robin Chapman. June, 154-161.
Sensorimotor development and the use of prelinguistic performance. Karen F. Steckol & Laurence B. Leonard. June, 262-268.
Word duration in early child speech. Cathy A. Kubaska & Patricia A. Keating. December, 615-621.

NORMAL LANGUAGE IN ADULTS

Disambiguation of ditropic sentences: Acoustic and phonetic cues. Diana Van Lancker, Gerald J. Canter, & Dale Terbeek. September, 330-335.
Idiomatic versus literal interpretations of ditropically ambiguous sentences. Diana Van Lancker & Gerald J. Canter. March, 64-69.

PERSONALITY AND PSYCHIATRIC DISTURBANCES

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.

TREATMENT

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.
Disfluencies in the speech of language-delayed children. Ruth Merits-Patterson & Charles G. Reed. March, 55-58.
Response to Courtright and Courtright. Phil Connell, Dianne Gardner-Gletty, Jill Dejewski, & Lynn Parks-Reinick. March, 146-148.

Some comments on validity, tautology and methodology: A reply to Connell et al. John A. Courtright & Illene C. Courtright. March, 148-150.

Veterans Administration cooperative study on aphasia: A comparison of individual and group treatment. Robert T. Wertz, Michael J. Collins, David Weiss, John F. Kurtzke, Thomas Friden, Robert H. Speech

Anatomy and Physiology

Muscle activity for jaw closing during speech. John W. Folkins. December, 601-615.

Procedures for verification and electrode placement in EMG studies of orofacial and mandibular muscles. Nicholas J. O'Dwyer, Peter T. Quinn, Barry E. Guitar, Gavin Andrews, & Peter D. Neilson. June, 273-288.

Recruitment patterns of motor units in speech production. Anne Smith, Gerald N. Zimmermann, & Paul J. Abbas. December, 567-576.

Stuttering: In need of a unifying conceptual framework. Gerald N. Zimmermann, Anne Smith, & John M. Hanley. March, 25-31.

Articulation or Phonological Disorders

Articulatory patterns of an adventitiously deaf speaker: Implications for the role of auditory information in speech production. Gerald Zimmermann & Patricia Rettaliata. June, 169-178.

A further analysis for developmental apraxia of speech in children with defective articulation. Ruth Williams, Roger J. Ingham, & Joan Rosenthal. December, 496-505.

Reflections on a double negative: Misarticulation and inconsistency. Arthur S. House. March, 98-103.

Stuttering: In need of a unifying conceptual framework. Gerald N. Zimmermann, Anne Smith, & John M. Hanley. March, 25-31.

Assessment

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.

Construct validity of direct magnitude estimation and interval scaling of speech intelligibility: Evidence from a study of the hearing impaired. Nicholas Schiavetti, Dale Evan Metz, & Ronald W. Sitler. September, 441-445.

A further analysis for developmental apraxia of speech in children with defective articulation. Ruth Williams, Roger J. Ingham, & Joan Rosenthal. December, 496-505.

Research Note. Detecting nasalization using a low-cost miniature accelerometer. R. P. Lippmann. September, 314-317.

Neurologic Disabilities

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.

Communication systems for the nonvocal based on frequent phoneme sequences. Cheryl Goodenough-Trepagnier & Penny Prather. September, 322-330.

Personality and Psychiatric Disturbances

Central auditory nervous system dysfunction in echolalic autistic individuals. Amy Miller Wetherby, Robert L. Koegel, & Maurice Mendel. September, 420-429.

Speech or Voice Production

Articulation effort: Transitivity and observer agreement. Martin A. Young. June, 224-232.

Articulatory patterns of an adventitiously deaf speaker: Implications for the role of auditory information in speech production. Gerald Zimmermann & Patricia Rettaliata. June, 169-178.

Construct validity of direct magnitude estimation and interval scaling of speech intelligibility: Evidence from a study of the hearing impaired. Nicholas Schiavetti, Dale Evan Metz, & Ronald W. Sitler. September, 441-445.

Disambiguation of ditropic sentences: Acoustic and phonetic cues. Diana Van Lancker, Gerald J. Canter, & Dale Terbeek. September, 330-335.

Disfluencies of normally speaking two-year-old children. Ehud Yairi. December, 490-495.

Early perceptual strategies for the replication of consonants from polysyllabic lexical models. Harriet B. Klein. December, 535-551.

The effects of antagonistic gestures on temporal and amplitude parameters of anticipatory labial coarticulation. Harvey M. Sussman & John R. Westbury. March, 16-24.

Muscle activity for jaw closing during speech. John W. Folkins. December, 601-615.

Parents' and peers' communication to toddlers. Louise Cherry Wilkinson, Elfrieda Hiebert, & Karen Rembold. September, 283-388.

Production and perception of coarticulation among stressed and unstressed vowels. Carol A. Fowler. March, 127-139.

Productive strategies for the pronunciation of early polysyllabic lexical items. Harriet B. Klein. September, 389-405.

Recruitment patterns of motor units in speech production. Anne Smith, Gerald N. Zimmermann, & Paul J. Abbas. December, 567-576.

Regulation of vocal intensity in the presence of feedback filtering and amplification. Sharon R. Garber, Gerald M. Siegel, & Herbert L. Pick, Jr. March, 104-108.

Some aspects of fundamental frequency control by esophageal speakers. Cynthia B. Angermeier & Bernd Weinberg. March, 85-91.

Speaking fundamental frequency characteristics of nonsmoking female adults. Margaret L. Stoicheff. September, 437-441.

Stimulus dominance in dichotic listening. Charles Speaks, Nancy Niccum, Edward Carney, & Cynthia Johnson. September, 430-437.

A study of the reading fundamental vocal frequency of young black adults. Amelia I. Hudson & Anthony Holbrook. June, 197-201.

Stuttering: In need of a unifying conceptual framework. Gerald N. Zimmermann, Anne Smith, & John M. Hanley. March, 25-31.

Word duration in early child speech. Cathy A. Kubaska & Patricia A. Keating. December, 615-621.

Speech Perception, Auditory Processing

Articulatory patterns of an adventitiously deaf speaker: Implications for the role of auditory information in speech production. Gerald Zimmermann & Patricia Rettaliata. June, 169-178.

Auditory discrimination of voiceless fricatives in children. D. Devenny Phatate & Helen Umano. June, 162-168.

Children's performance on a binaural fusion task. Bruce L. Plakke, Daniel J. Orchik, & Daniel S. Beasley. December, 520-525.

A comparison of the effects of hearing impairment and acoustic filtering on consonant recognition. Brian E. Walden, Daniel M. Schwartz, Allen A. Montgomery, & Robert A. Prosek. March, 32-43.

Construct validity of direct magnitude estimation and interval scaling of speech intelligibility: Evidence from a study of the hearing impaired. Nicholas Schiavetti, Dale Evan Metz, & Ronald W. Sitler. September, 441-445.

The contingent negative variation as an indicator of speech discrimination difficulty. Gary P. Jacobson & Donald P. Gans. September, 345-350.

Effect of noise and reverberation on binaural and monaural word identification by subjects with various audiograms. Anna K. Nabelek & David Mason. September, 375-383.

Effects of stimulus material on the dichotic listening performance of aphasic patients. Nancy Niccum, Alan B. Rubens, & Charles Speaks. December, 526-534.
